

British Values Policy

Introduction

Trinity Christian School is committed to developing the lives of all its students by learning from the example set for us by the life of Jesus Christ. As a school with a distinctive Christian ethos, the key values of mutual respect, understanding right from wrong, the need for laws and tolerance are integral to all that we do. Trinity Christian School is committed to developing in pupils the desire and skills to serving members of the community through respecting the principle that each individual is unique, and loved by God and therefore they should value and love each person regardless of belief, culture, or any other characteristics and irrespective of the value which may be applied by others or society to an individual.

At Trinity Christian School we recognise that, as British citizens, we are also required to uphold what has become known as 'British Values'. All schools are required to actively promote the 'fundamental British values' of:

- democracy
- the rule of law
- individual liberty
- mutual respect
- tolerance and respect of those from different cultures and with different faiths and beliefs

Promotion of British Values

Trinity Christian School is a multicultural community and celebrates the diversity of its pupils, seeking to create a supportive and loving environment where diversity is valued. Alongside this the School is preparing its pupils for life in modern Britain through learning about world cultures and beliefs and an appreciation for British culture and institutions.

Trinity Christian School promotes these values in the following ways:

- Strong school ethos.
- Daily assemblies celebrating the Christian ethos and how this should lead to love and care for others.
- Successful integration of all students into our community.
- Promotion of equal opportunities for everyone.
- Effective implementation of behaviour, respect and anti-bullying policies.
- Participation in a wider community which we frequently learn about, serve and support.
- Special topics and days such as 'Around the World Day' when we explore a variety of different cultures.
- Participation in charitable events and fund raising for those in need locally and around the world.

Alongside the promotion of British Values schools must also ensure they actively promote principles that:

- (a) Enable pupils to develop their self-knowledge, self-esteem and self-confidence
- (b) Enable pupils to distinguish right from wrong and to respect the civil and criminal law of England
- (c) Encourage pupils to accept responsibility for their behaviour, show initiative and understand how they can contribute positively to the lives of those living and working in the locality in which the school is situated, and to society more widely
- (d) Enable pupils to acquire a broad general knowledge of and respect for public institutions and services in England
- (e) Further tolerance and harmony between different cultural traditions by enabling pupils to acquire an appreciation of and respect for their own cultures
- (f) Encourage respect for other people, paying particular regard to the protected characteristics set out in the Equality Act 2010
- (g) Encourage respect for democracy and support for participation in the democratic process, including respect for the basis on which the law is made and applied in England

Expectations for pupils

The DfE's guidance for improving the spiritual, moral, social and cultural development of pupils defines expectations for pupils.

Paragraph 13 of the document sets out the "kinds of understanding and knowledge that can be expected in pupils as a result of schools meeting this standard". These include:

- An understanding as to how citizens can influence decision-making through the democratic process;
- An understanding that participation in elections by those opposed to democracy should be allowed by law, but the success of such candidates is undesirable for the well-being of society if it would lead to the end of democracy;
- An appreciation that living under the rule of law protects individual citizens and is essential for their well-being and safety;
- An understanding that bodies such as the police and the army can be held to account to the people, through the democratic organs of government;
- An understanding that the freedom to hold other faiths and beliefs is protected in law, and an acceptance that other people having different faiths or beliefs to oneself (or having none) should not be the cause of prejudicial or discriminatory behaviour; and
- Some understanding of the problems of identifying and combatting discrimination.

How do we actively promote British Values

Trinity Christian School is fully committed to developing the whole child and enabling all students to develop their God given talents and abilities and to contribute to the society in which they live through serving others.

Summary

The School expects high standards of personal attitude and conduct of its pupils. All pupils are expected to treat all people as being of equal value, behaving in accordance with the School's Respect Policy and to speak kind words to others, to respect others and be polite to everyone in accordance with the School's Nurture and Discipline Policy. Every member of the school community has an important part to play in applying these principles to build a school which is caring and outward looking.

Examples of opportunities and activities to promote British Values at Trinity Christian School include:

- Visits are made to locations important to the development of British culture and values.
- Visiting speakers are welcomed into the school from a wide range of backgrounds and with a wide range of experiences.
- In lessons pupils are encouraged to think for themselves and to discuss ideas.
- Pupils are given opportunities to participate in a democratic process.
- Teachers model positive behaviour in their interactions with each other and pupils.
- Unkindness or bullying is quickly dealt with in a positive way.
